Earth's Treasures – How we use and value mineral resources 23. February 2016

Dear Commodity Club Members and Experts,

Mineral resources play a fundamental role in our daily lives. We take their availability for granted and their worldwide consumption is steadily on the rise. What are the long-term consequences of our increasing use of non-renewable resources? What challenges lie ahead of us?

FocusTerra, Earth Science Research and Information Center of globally renowned university ETH, presents a special exhibition about "Earth Earth's Treasures – How we use and value mineral resources". This exhibition is about the formation, mining and use of mineral resources, and how we deal with products we no longer need. What can we do to ensure that resources are extracted in an economical, environmentally friendly and socially responsible way and that they are used and reused for as long and as efficiently as possible?

We would like to invite you at FocusTerra ETH in Zürich on 23. February 2016, from 6.30 till 7.30 p.m. where all these questions and many more will be answered by a tour guide that will lead us through the exhibition. The tour will be held in English. For further information on the topics of the exposition please see the file attached. The exhibition will end in February 2016, thus our event is the last chance for visiting before closing!

After the tour all participants are welcome to join for a drink and discussion at the café in Hotel Sunnehus. Click here for participating at this event.

We are looking forward to seeing you.

Best regards,
