

CME Group and Commodity Club Webinar

THE IMPORTANT ROLE OF BASE METALS IN THE ENERGY TRANSITION

CME Group, in collaboration with Commodity Club Switzerland, invites you to attend a webinar focusing on the important role of base metals in the energy transition on Thursday, 17 June.

We will be joined by Markus Noethiger, Independent Commodity Industry Advisor for ESG, Governance, Risk, Compliance, Managing Partner at Enemco LLC, and Nitesh Shah, Director – Commodity Strategist at WisdomTree, to explore how electrification accelerates the demand for base and battery metals.

The event will cover the increased importance of base metals, especially regarding the impact of government regulation and how green tech will increase the demand for electric vehicles and copper wiring. We will also be looking at the ESG-related challenges and opportunities that occur with the increased demand for materials that are vital to the adoption of a clean energy future.

Register to attend using the button below. Further instructions on joining this online event will be provided following registration.
