

Global Food (In)security

Dear Commodity Club Members & Experts,

Registrations are now open for our upcoming event:

Global Food (In)security: Insights from a Leading Agricultural Scientist and a Global Grain Trader

We look forward to welcoming you on 16th November in Zurich, at the Restaurant Haus zum Rüden (Limmatquai, 42) from 18:30 to 22:00.

In a world where food security is a paramount concern, the event promises to be a thought-provoking and enlightening journey into the critical issues surrounding agriculture, food production, and their global implications.

Speakers:

- Erik Norland, Senior Economist at CME Group
- Prof. Dr. Robert Finger, Professor of Agricultural Economics and Policy & Chair of the World Food System Center at ETH
- Christian Jörg, Head of Commercial Investments at SALIC (SALIC ensures food security for Saudi Arabia)

Main questions addressed:

- What are the main challenges for the agriculture and food sector on global, European and Swiss level?
- How are big data and high-tech being used in farming, and what is the impact on productivity and crop protection?
- What are the latest trends in selected approaches such as agroecology and regenerative agriculture?
- What are the dynamics of climate change impacts on agriculture, and what are the potential solutions?
- What is the connection between agricultural goods prices and energy, and how does the monetary policy affect them?

After the presentations, there will be refreshments with a standing buffet aperitif, an opportunity for sharing and networking.
