Commodity Trading Week London & Online, April 26th-27th

Dear Commodity Club Members & Experts,

We're delighted to announce that we are an Association Partner at Commodity Trading Week, taking place in London and Online on 26-27 April.

As Association Partner, we're inviting you to join us there for a packed week of learning, discussion and networking. With over 120 speakers sharing their insights and more than 500 attendees in-person, with a further 5000 taking part online from around the globe, this will be the biggest gathering of commodity trading professionals this year. Find out more here: <https://bit.ly/3JmOb00>

From risk management to digitalisation, supply chain, logistics, trading excellence and - new for this year - commodity trade finance, there are tailored sessions throughout the week so that you can attend the parts most relevant to you.

Commodity Club Board Member Alexander Peters will also join the conference during the panel discussion on April 26th at 15:00-15:45 UTC on Driving the Transition through ESG Finance: perspectives and plans of the banks:

- What are the carrots, and what are the sticks that traders can expect from the financial sector in the years ahead?
- Integrating ESG into banking frameworks - realistic rates of change
- What are the key drivers of change in the financial landscape?
- Emerging products and structures to meet sustainability goals
- Is the current commodity supercycle green?

You can join us and hundreds of commodity trading professionals in-person at the Hilton Tower Bridge in London, or dip in and out of the live stream online at your convenience.

Register your place now to join us there – you won't want to miss this!
